King Saud arrived yesterday (June 8) in Jidra and in accordance with his custom during his visits to Jidra for the annual Hacen pilgrimage, today received Chiefs of Diplomatic missions.

The King, cheerful and rested, seemed as if he never had had a care in the world. As he did last year, he contrived to give me a seat of honor without openly infringing protocol. He let the five Ambassadors who are senior to me in residence here pass by him to seats on his right, and when I appeared he waved me to the seat on his left.
